

Strategic Workforce Planning Development Programme

The way that organisations conduct their business is changing rapidly, as is the environment in which they operate.

There is a genuine risk that organisations will not maintain the workforce profile to deliver their strategic imperatives in the medium to long-term.

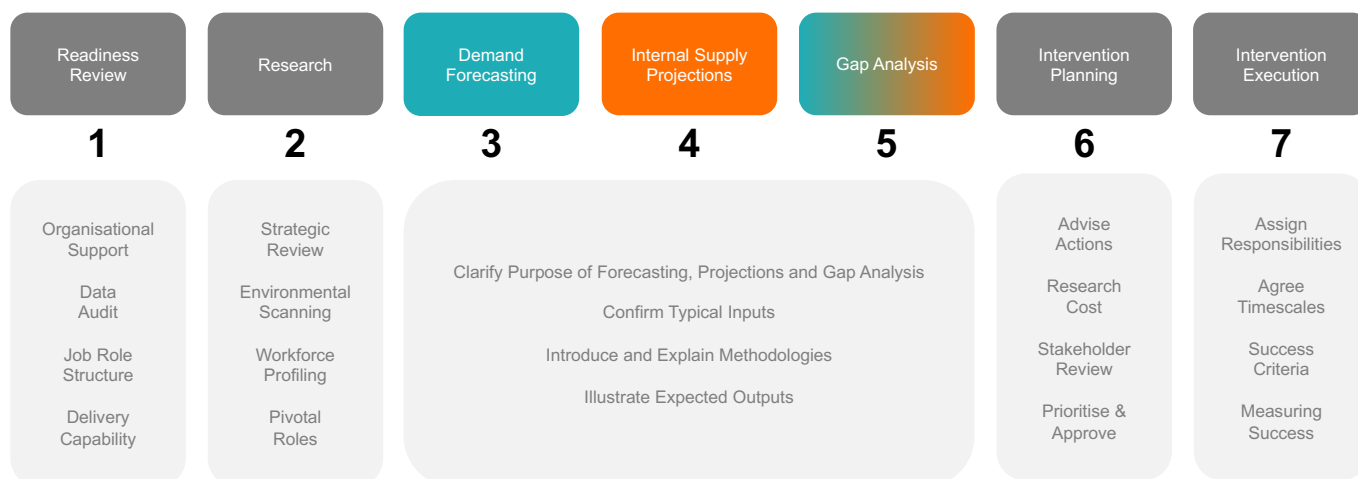

A well-conceived Strategic Workforce Plan is vital if an organisation is to reliably inform recruitment, development and retention strategies.

The successful execution of a Strategic Workforce Plan requires specialist skills.

Our Programme

Our People Analytics Development Programme features a module that provides excellent process awareness, however for those who intend to implement a Strategic Workforce Planning initiative, and are not being coached as part of our advisory service, we offer a dedicated programme.

This programme (overviewed below) aligns with our advisory methodology and features a step-by-step guide approach to process execution.
